A Story That Will Inspire You To Follow Your Dreams

Shortly after graduating, Andy Stoll set off on what would become a 4-year, 40-country, solo trip around the world.

In this lecture, Andy's message to students is clear: The distance between who you are and who you want to become is shorter than you think. Andy's stories and strategies will help students turn their biggest dreams into a reality---whether that is to travel around the world, or something a little closer to home.

“One of the best speakers I have heard in my life.”

Jilian K, Student Body Vice-President, University of Minnesota

Andy delivers a high-energy, inspirational presentation that motivates students to explore the world with their eyes wide open. The talk culminates in his solo trip around the world, while drawing lessons learned from some of Andy's early life experiences that led him to undertake this seemingly impossible journey.

Andy's presentation is much more than a travel slideshow, its an insightful, inspiring, entertaining and often hilarious look at what it takes to find our place in the world.

“I have worked in universities for 10 years and have never seen a group of students as engaged with a speaker, as my students with Andy.”

Tara Edberg, The University of San Diego

Andy's talk is designed to help students gain a new perspective on the choices they have both in and after college to build a meaningful and fulfilling life, and every student will walk away with specific strategies to help them create the life that they've always imagined but never thought possible.
